The Centre for Women's Safety and Wellbeing is the peak representative body for women's domestic and family violence, community-based women's health and sexual assault services in Western Australia. Our purpose is to lead, influence and advocate for women's safety, health and wellbeing, and to promote gender equality.

Full membership is open to any organisation that:

- works to respond to and prevent violence against women and their children; or
- is a sexual assault service and/or women's health service; and
- supports our Objectives.

Associate membership is open to any organisation or individual that;

- does not work directly in prevention or response to domestic, family and or/sexual violence, but has an interest in the prevention of violence against women and their children, gender equity and women's health promotion; and
- supports our Objectives.

The CWSW objectives are to:

- advocate, influence and collaborate to improve outcomes in the prevention of, and responses to, violence against women and their children, sexual assault/abuse, women's health and gender equity.
- lead and enhance the capacity of services to meet the safety, health and wellbeing needs of women and their children in the Western Australian community.
- provide policy advice and monitor policies, legislation, programs and practices which impact on women's safety, capacity for good health, access to justice and economic security.
- be a knowledge translation and exchange centre for violence against women and their children, sexual assault/abuse, gender equity, and the promotion of women's health and wellbeing, with strong roots in policy, practice, academic and community networks.
- identify significant issues and raise public awareness of all aspects of violence against women and their children, sexual assault/abuse, gender inequity and the social determinants of women's health.

- ensure that the activities of the Association are responsive to the needs of women and their children that may be disadvantaged because of multiple and intersecting forms of discrimination and inequity.
- provide assistance, information and referral to enable women and children in crisis to access the vital resources they require.

Membership fees are used to support our important advocacy work, and allow Authorised Individuals (of Full Members) and Associate Members to exercise voting rights at General Meetings. Members are also entitled to be listed on the CWSW website.
